

Lords of Light

Channeled by Maureen St. Germain

We are the Lords of Light working with you this day. We wish to inform you your carriage that you are taking to next now is being upgraded. We want you to see yourself in a beautiful horse and buggy carriage like the one that Cinderella's pumpkin turned into. For those of you who are not familiar with the Cinderella story, imagine a royal carriage that has beautiful gilding on the outside and a beautiful design, padded seats that are luxurious, and beautiful springs on it – so it is lovely. And we also wish to say to you, you may remember your old carriage being like a wagon of the wild west. And now you are in this beautiful carriage – so your vehicle that you are taking has now been upgraded.

Now, we've deliberately used the cart image because those of you who perhaps do not have an affinity for automobiles to understand that you are still being towed. Maureen used to say a joke – when people asked her, "How does she know where to go?" and the response was, 'I go where I'm towed.' And everyone would laugh because it is a play on the American word "told."

Now, you are being towed to an expression in the reality that not only feels luxurious, but also feels well provided for. So, you have an environment of no worries, an environment of comfort, an environment of enthusiasm. You are now travelling in a golden environment. We ask you to do the meditation that is on Maureen St. Germain's website called The Golden Time which will reinforce this. It is free through mid-January or beginning of February, so you should be able to pick it up if you are reading this in a timely fashion.

We want you to breathe a sigh of relief – Ahhhh. We want you to look around you and decide what can I create?

We want you to pretend that you are an extraordinarily well-off individual who will choose what they want based upon what they like, not what they need. They are not afraid to let go of things that they have liked in the past because they know that they can get more. And the new will be just as pleasing as the old because it will be new and different, but it will also be pleasing. The reason we bring this up is because we want you to begin to be less attached to what you do have - attached for fear of losing – and instead move into a level of attachment that pleases you.

One year, Maureen told her sons – when you pick up a Christmas ornament to put on the tree make sure you really like it. And if you don't really, really like it, you can put it in a box over here that is going to the Goodwill. Well, there were more ornaments in the box than there were on the tree, and yet the tree looked absolutely fabulous. So, we want you to feel like that. To know that if you got rid of half of your belongings you would be OK. You would look upon that and be very content.

We also want you to notice that the people you know in your world who have resources. Perhaps they have an inheritance that they are living on, or they have a big company that they own or work at, and they choose a very simple lifestyles. They recognize that the more belongings they have, the more work it is to maintain those belongings. So, we would like to encourage you to understand that you could expand your energy by decreasing your belongings. This will allow you to develop more time and energy to your spiritual growth, and your spiritual mastery.

The road you are on is filled with love and light. The discovery of who you really are will amaze you as you have never thought of yourself in these terms as a co-creator. Keep in mind that the world is changing. The world that is coming in front of you is the result of your prayers, of your requests, or release from the drama that you have experienced. Initially, it will feel like a magical world. So, we ask you to keep your eyes open and your heart open. We ask you to look at life with wonder and joy. We invite you to explore what you can create, now that you have begun to understand that you have far more mastery than you thought. We ask you, as you read this, to tune to your heart, turn to your heart.

Tuning to your heart is you sensing the vibe in your heart. Turning to your heart is moving your mind. So you are using your emotions first to tune to your heart, then you use your mind to put your intention on your heart. Then we ask you to see it expand and grow. We ask you to feel the love that we hold for you. We ask you to be filled with appreciation and gratitude for this beautiful world we live in – for everything that you do have. We ask you to stay in a place of deep gratitude for everything that happens to you.

If you encounter something that you find unpleasant, we ask you to ask yourself, ‘I wonder what good am I going to get from this experience?’ We ask you to hold your tongue and not complain. Perhaps you will complain to one close confidante who is more like a sponge or a dry towel and will listen to your tears, but won’t need to correct them and won’t need to repeat your story. And this way you confine your disappointment in life to a minimal amount. This is very important because you are being towed to a much greater place than you have ever thought possible.

Right now – keeping your heart open, and your attention on your heart is your most important action. Do not let anything dissuade you from this. You are a magnificent being. You deserve the very best and you are getting it. So sit back and relax, and enjoy the ride. We are the Lords of Light.
